

A new map/guide makes the drive down America's busiest highway, from Boston to Florida—or any piece in between—safer, interesting and stress-free

Drive I-95

Exit by Exit Info, Maps, History, and Trivia

from Boston to the Florida border ... and back

Road trips are back again, because traveling in the security of your own car and visiting friendly small town America brings back the way America used to be and the way we would like it to be again.

Drive I-95 is a new style of map/guidebook with 30 mile easy-to-follow pictorial maps and stories of the road:

- ♥ maps going both south and north for map lovers and map-challenged people
- ♥ services at exits: motels (with 800-numbers), gas stations (mechanics, 24-hour ones too), family restaurants, shopping, drug stores and hospitals
- ♥ radio stations to listen to
- ♥ places the cops like to hide
- ♥ campgrounds and golf courses
- ♥ American history that crossed the road: tidbits from the Revolutionary War, War of 1812 and Civil War and famous inventions
- ♥ trivia to entertain you

"This is not just any old interstate.
This is I-95..."

Dave Barry, Columnist, Miami Herald

"Loaded with lots of helpful details and oh-so-easy to use maps, Drive I-95 inspires women to hit the road without trepidation. A real winner!"

Evelyn Hannon, Editor, Journeywoman.com

"This new book continues the tradition set by Sandra Phillips in her acclaimed series—everything checked out, no stone unturned and absolutely no commercial interest in any of the recommendations...unleash your spirit of discovery."

George Iny, President, Automobile Protection Association

“Stan and Sandra discover the gems that await all along I-95...designed to make your next road trip one that you will always remember.”

Stephen Pickford, Host, Travel World, www.twc.ca

Easy-to-follow 30-mile color maps provide a mile-by-mile overview of the road ahead, pinpointing your position and helping you quickly locate upcoming services on each side of the road, whether you're driving North or South.

Driving I-95 did you know ...

- ? Babe Ruth's father owned a cafe where Oriole Park's center field sits right now
- ? You drive under the harbor where Francis Scott Key wrote the Star Spangled Banner
- ? The Garden Kitchen in Occoquan, VA has the best homemade pies on the road
- ? On Sapelo Island, GA they still speak Gullah, an African/English dialect
- ? The world's oldest continuously operated airport is in College Park, MD, where the Wright brothers flew
- ? Russell Stover has an outlet store in VA for deals on chocolate
- ? At Fort Bragg, NC, you can watch paratroopers jumping
- ? Rawley's Drive-In's hot dogs in Fairfield, CT have tickled the taste buds of Martha Stewart, Meg Ryan, David Letterman and Paul Newman

Sandra Phillips-Posner has been the best-selling (65 weeks) author of "Smart Shopping Montreal" for seventeen years. She is a columnist for The Gazette (Montreal), a regular guest on talk radio, TV talk shows and the nightly news, and is a popular lecturer.

Stan Posner owns a computer consulting company and has worked with such companies as Raytheon, Honda, Bombardier and Atomic Energy of Canada. He edits all of Sandra's work and has always been the computer guru for their publishing company.

Together they have enjoyed travel writing and broadcasting. This book is a perfect combination of Stan's passion for maps and computers, Sandra's knack of writing fun stories and their sense of adventure.
